

Contents

Thomas P. Campbell An Introduction to the Exhibition	2
TAPESTRY PRODUCTION
Koenraad Brosens New Light on the Raes Workshop in Brussels and Rubens's Achilles Series	20
Isabelle Denis A New Look at the Story of Coriolanus	34
Jean Vittet Charles de Comans's Posthumous Inventory, 1635	56
Pascal-François Bertrand A Question of Scale: Was It Necessary to Weave Poussin's Paintings?	84
PATRONAGE
Hanns Hubach Tales from the Tapestry Collection of Elector Palatine Frederick V and Elizabeth Stuart, the Winter King and Queen	104
Ebeltje Hartkamp-Jonxis Mannerist, Baroque, and Classicist: Narrative Tapestries and Related Paintings in Late Sixteenth- and Seventeenth-Century Holland	134
Nello Forti Grazzini On the Tapestries in Seventeenth-Century Milan: Some New Findings	154
Ingrid De Meûter An Altar Frontal for the Jesuit Church in Rome after an Unknown Design by Rubens	190
James G. Harper The Sun Also Riseth: The Barberini Apollo Series as an Allegory of Rise, Fall, and Return	204
Florence Patrizi Tapestries in the Colonna Collection	232
Concha Herrero Carretero Tapestries for Court and Ecclesiastical Use in Seventeenth-Century Spain	274

Guy Delmarcel, Margarita García Calvo, and Koenraad Brosens Spanish Family Pride in Flemish Wool and Silk: The Moncada Family and Its Baroque Tapestry Collection	284
Charissa Bremer-David The Tapestry Patronage of Madame de Montespan and Her Family	316
Florian Knothe Tapestry as a Medium of Propaganda at the Court of Louis XIV: Display and Audience	342